

Use the CSS Styles panel to create, view, apply, or edit CSS styles for elements of a web page. In the All mode, the panel has two panes: All Rules and Properties.

Select a style to apply to the selected text in your document or to examine and edit the rules for that style.

Show Category View: View the properties of a style rule by property category.

Show List View: View an alphabetical list of possible properties and those that compose the selected style rule.

Show Only Set Properties: View a list of properties that compose the selected style rule.

Attach Style Sheet: Attach an external style sheet to your current document.

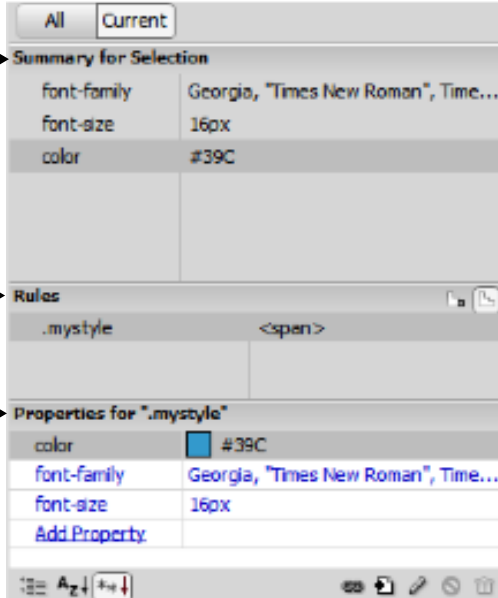

New CSS Rule: Create a new style rule.

Edit Style Sheet/Edit Rule: Make changes to the selected style sheet linked to the document or to the selected style.

Disable/Enable CSS Property: Temporarily disable/enable the selected property.

Unlink CSS Stylesheet/ Delete CSS Rule: Unlink the selected style sheet from the document or remove a rule from a style sheet. When you unlink style sheets and delete rules, all the formatting associated with the style sheet or rule is removed.

In the Current mode, the panel has three panes: Summary For Selection, Rules, and Properties.

The Summary For Selection pane displays the CSS properties for the current selection in the document.

The Properties pane allows you to edit the rule's properties and add new properties.

The Rules pane either displays all rules for the selected tag (as shown) or the name and file location of selected properties, depending on your selection.
